

You might be building a Teardrop if....

1. If your UPS driver is out with a hernia ... You might be building a Teardrop.
2. If your driveway has rust stains from metal shavings ... You might be building a Teardrop.
3. If you have to explain that you “sleep in it” ... You might be building a Teardrop.
4. If you find yourself saying “Yes It Is A Camper” ... You might be building a Teardrop.
5. If you find yourself walking around the hardware store looking for Ideas ... You might be building a Teardrop.
6. After spraying the finale clear coat in the middle of the night you get raided by the cops looking for a Meth lab ... You might be building a Teardrop.
7. If you had a bad fupping day ... You might be building a Teardrop.
8. You are the only 4 cylinder car in town with a hitch... You might be building a Teardrop.
9. You're talking about camping in the middle of February... You might be building a Teardrop.
10. You know the exact measurements of a Coleman ice chest ... You might be building a Teardrop.
11. If you spend more time on the bulletin board looking for help than out in the garage... You might be building a Teardrop.
12. If you have Gorilla Glue in your hair..... you might be building a Teardrop.
13. If you have friends named oklahomajewel, DHAZARD, Madjack, and, Cracker39... you might be building a Teardrop.
14. If your breath smells like pickle juice and Crown Royal ... You might be building a Teardrop.
15. If you walk around with a license plate around your neck... You might be building a Teardrop.
16. If you haven't had sex with your wife in 6 months...but you don't care because you're picking up your HF stove this afternoon... You might be building a Teardrop.

17. If the Northern Tool catalog excites you more than the Victoria Secret's catalog... You might be building a Teardrop.
18. When you get excited because your friend gave you a little plumber's putty for your sink...so you've now saved a whopping 2 bucks on your build... You might be building a Teardrop.
19. When you spend at least 20 minutes a day doing a search for "Crab" on eBay, and buy every piece of crap that pops up... You might be building a Teardrop.
20. If your only goal for a weekend is to get a light to turn on You might be building a Teardrop.
21. If the highpoint of your day is locating a HF 20% off coupon.... You might be building a Teardrop.
22. If you have a new tool/parts catalog arriving daily... You might be building a Teardrop.
23. If you want to start a second, before the first is complete.... You might be building a Teardrop.
24. If you've stumbled across a group of people from around the world sharing the same interest... You might be building a Teardrop.
25. If you talk to people you've never actually met before about porta pottys... You might be building a Teardrop.
26. If you have used the word "ellipse" more times in 6 wks than you ever did in math class.... You might be building a Teardrop.
27. If you go to bed picturing yourself laying on 1/2" plywood... You might be building a Teardrop.
28. If you walk around Walmart measuring microwaves and water jugs... You might be building a Teardrop.
29. If you home page on your computer is www.mikenchell.com/forums/ ... You might be building a Teardrop.
30. If you can reach down on any part of your garage floor and grab the right size screw you need... You might be building a Teardrop.
31. If termites leave your house groaning because they ate too much saw dust... You might be building a Teardrop.

32. If you've never tried to wire anything until you bought a breaker panel in a boat store... You might be building a Teardrop.
33. If you know what the difference is between ACX and CDX... You might be building a Teardrop.
34. If you get into semi drunken arguments over the difference in carpenters glue and gorilla glue... You might be building a Teardrop.
35. If you can't wait for the first rain to see if it leaks ... You might be building a Teardrop.
36. You get excited when the word Minden is uttered... You might be building a Teardrop.
37. If you have J.C Whitney, HF and Northern Tool phone numbers on your cell phone... You might be building a Teardrop.
38. You can't get past the hardware store on the weekends... You might be building a Teardrop.
39. When you think of "Gathering" you don't think of under wear... You might be building a Teardrop.
40. If you get out of bed at 3 AM to get a new design idea down on paper that's been running through your head all night... You might be building a Teardrop.
41. If you're in the dog house because you put your wife's car out in the driveway and the garage is now littered with lumber, steel, and tools... You might be building a Teardrop.
42. If the only papers in your wallet are receipts from Lowes and Home Depot ... You might be building a Teardrop.
43. If you get more excited than a little kid on Christmas morning when the UPS truck pulls up to your house ... You might be building a Teardrop.
44. If you are profoundly depressed when the UPS package isn't for you ... You might be building a Teardrop.
45. If you drive 350 miles each way to buy a utility trailer kit ... You might be building a Teardrop.
46. If your wife refers to the T&TTT forum as "that cult"... You might be building a Teardrop.

47. If "getting lucky" means finding a local source for 1/8" bendable plywood ... You might be building a Teardrop.
48. If you keep a digital camera on your workbench ... You might be building a Teardrop.
49. If every T-shirt you own is stained with Titebond, Gorilla Glue, Spar Urethane and Uniflex ... You might be building a Teardrop.
50. If you've ever paid $90/gallon for paint... You might be building a Teardrop.
51. If you spend hours browsing marine parts web sites, and you don't own a boat ... You might be building a Teardrop.
52. If you know how to find things in Lowe's better than the people who work there ... You might be building a Teardrop.
53. If you have friends all across the country and in a couple of foreign countries whom you have never met ... You might be building a Teardrop.
54. Every T shirt is ruined from glue... You might be building a Teardrop.
55. There's a pile of parts in the living room... You might be building a Teardrop.
56. The guys at the lumber yard mutter under their breath as you poke through the veneered ply... You might be building a Teardrop.
57. You use the phrase "you know, those little round trailers" in conversation... You might be building a Teardrop.
58. You keep trying to think of a teardrop equivalent to "the mile high club"... You might be building a Teardrop.
59. You hear the word tongue and think something different than everyone else at the party... You might be building a Teardrop.
60. You get a tear drop to haul all your cast iron ...oops wrong group... You might be building a Teardrop.
61. You make a car purchase based on how it will look with your trailer... You might be building a Teardrop.
62. The pinewood derby car you build with your son has a trailer attached... You might be building a Teardrop.
63. You've ever googled Kit mfg... You might be building a Teardrop.

64. If you know a guy by the name of Madjack that is always asking for "Pics" ... You might be building a Teardrop.
65. If you can blame a man that is known as Snoop Doggie Doug for all of your car problems ... You might be building a Teardrop.
66. You find yourself wondering if Ira's day got any better when he got home and asked for a "Snow Job" ... You might be building a Teardrop.
67. If you're cheering for Estonia to win more Olympic medals and you don't even know where Estonia IS...You might be building a Teardrop.
68. If you learned that Finland is the land of a million saunas on a teardrop building site because you haven't picked up a book in 20 years (besides a comic book)...You might be building a Teardrop.
69. If you have to hide the cheap 50 buck marine battery that you're going to buy this Friday from your wife because you still owe her 50 bucks from last week that you used to buy salt and pepper shakers decorated with crabs...You might be building a Teardrop.
70. If you INSIST on picking out the curtain fabric...You might be building a Teardrop.
71. If you've never wired anything in your life but you buy an expensive marine panel... You might be building a Teardrop.
72. If you can show off your woody in public without being arrested ... You might be building a Teardrop.
73. If you know a stripper in upstate New York... You might be building a Teardrop.
74. If you know what a bumper dumper is ... You might be building a Teardrop.
75. If you ever posted a limerick on the internet... You might be building a Teardrop.
76. If you use the computer in the middle of the Super Bowl... You might be building a Teardrop.
77. If the cabinet shop in town sends a runner out to borrow clamps... You might be building a Teardrop.
78. Your dog would rather sleep outside on the nice pile of shavings behind the planer than in his own bed in the house... You might be building a Teardrop.
79. The patio heater in front of the shop is the most used appliance you own... You might be building a Teardrop.

80. If you stay up until 1 am (on a weeknight!) to (again) watch RV Crazy on The Travel Channel... You might be building a Teardrop.

81. If you are prone to sitting in your shop, drinkin' a beer & starin' at an empty floor... You might be building a Teardrop.

82. If you go to an internet cafe to check this forum while vacationing in a foreign country... You just might be building a Teardrop.

83. If you drive your lover to the airport and go back and watch NASCAR...you might be building HER Teardrop.

84. If you go to an internet cafe when on vacation...he might be building YOUR Teardrop.

85. If you can get past your differences with others and accept advice from them...You might be building a Teardrop.

86. If you sit in a Panera Bread on your 'puter and a stranger asks what those things are and you spend an hour explaining it to them...You might be building a Teardrop.

87. If you hijack a thread and don't get arrested...You might be building a Teardrop.

88. If you show up at a gathering without a tear and still get an award...You might be building a Teardrop.

89. If a disaster happens somewhere you have no family, but it feels like you do...You might be building a Teardrop.

90. If you're running your 'Buddy Heater' in your garage so that paint can dry... You might be building a Teardrop.

91. If you're in the middle of a thread called "you might be building a teardrop" and slip off a little and start talking about bladder function... You might be having dementia and building a Teardrop.

92. If you start a thread just to get a laugh, and it gets hijacked ... You might just be building a Teardrop with the help of some of the inmates at Teardrops & Tiny Travel Trailers.

93. If <http://www.mikenchell.com> goes down and you go into withdraws ... You might just be building a Teardrop with the help of some of the inmates at Teardrops & Tiny Travel Trailers.

94. If you take your mechanic a list of what your friends on T&TTT think is wrong with your truck... You might be building a Teardrop.

95. If the highlight of your Friday "date night" is when he checks the T&TTT web site to see who is on-line...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
96. If, when given an opportunity to select a romantic vacation location for just the two of you to ANY exotic place in the world, and he chooses a spot called "Minden"...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
97. If he got more excited about the Christmas present of sheets that matched his trailer motif than the new plasma TV...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
98. If he spent the entire Superbowl Sunday gluing the wood in his shop rather than glued to the TV...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
99. If he comes in late at night with a big grin on his face, mussed up hair and clothes, with the lingering scent of Eau de'Glue on him...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
100. If your favorite TV show is RV Crazy...You might be building a Teardrop.
101. If the most recent conversation you had with him/her included talking about ribs, and it didn't involve barbecuing...You might be building a Teardrop.
102. If he entices you to enter his workshop because he wants to show you something "BIG", and it turns out to be three pieces of 3/4" plywood...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
103. If you notice him frequently on-line talking to strangers about "getting a woody", and you don't find this odd...Your man might be building a Teardrop.
104. If you have attended more than two TD gatherings and you are still in a SST...You might be building a Teardrop.
105. If you know that SST is just another polite way to say "tent" (Soft Sided Trailer)...You might be building a Teardrop.
106. If your friends begin referring to you as a "Teardrop Groupie"...Your man just might be building a Teardrop.
107. If your new dog must fit at your feet in a 4 x 6 1/2 space...You might be building a Teardrop.
108. When you care more about how much your tongue weighs than you do about how much your ASS weighs...You might be building a Teardrop.

109. If you have ever called in sick to work because you didn't get everything done over the weekend... You might be building a Teardrop.

110. If neighbors stop by on their Saturday morning walk to see how much progress you made since last Saturday... You might be building a Teardrop.

111. If someone drives by your house then turns around and drives slowly past again... You might be building a Teardrop.

112. If your friends are start making plans for camping trips that "We" are going to take... You might be building a Teardrop.

113. If the folks at the local hardware store mention that, "I see you in here all the time." ... You might be building a Teardrop.

114. If a friend brings his wife/girlfriend over so she can see if it's "big enough" ... You might be building a Teardrop.

115. If you have close relatives working in the trades and they suddenly stop returning your phone calls... You might be building a Teardrop.

116. If most of your jeans have at least one Gorrilla glue stain on them... You might be building a Teardrop.

117. If your best friends seem to be on an Avatar on T&TTT... You might be building a Teardrop.

118. If you go to the garden store and just can't help looking at the Flamingos... You might be building a Teardrop.

119. If you have more "STUFF" for camping than you ever had when tent camping... You might be building a Teardrop.

120. If you have a whole bunch of "parts" that have been lying around for months taking up "valuable space" (according to the significant other)... You might be building a Teardrop.

121. If you "hole up" in your shop/garage/other makeshift space every chance you get, even when you are just planning to stare at the various "parts" and ponder... You might be building a Teardrop.

122. If you are ready to go to bed, but you just can't stop thinking about a wiring issue that you are months away from dealing with, so you get up to stare at your taillights and running lights... You might be building a Teardrop.

123. If you get in trouble at work because you spend so much time on the T&TTT Forum...You might be building a Teardrop.
124. If you can convince your significant other it is for them...You might be building a Teardrop.
125. If you significant other laughs uncontrollably...You might be building a Teardrop.
126. If you no longer have a significant other...You might be building a Teardrop.
127. If you are male and all of the sudden you think sewing machines are bitchen...You might be building a Teardrop.
128. If you actually set the alarm for 3AM to stoke the fire in the garage while the epoxy cures...You might be building a Teardrop.
129. If you can't wait to be out in the Redwoods and get up close and personal with Doug's latest woody...You might be building a Teardrop.
130. If "the voices" are starting to make sense and you are you are talking back to them asking for their ideas and input on building...You might be building a Teardrop.
131. If getting "LUCKY" tonight means that ya got 5 hours free time to play in the shop by yourself...You might be building a Teardrop.
132. If you spend your morning rolling loose change so you can get the extra parts you need...You might be building a Teardrop.
133. If you have ever brought up the next gathering while your wife is in labor...You might be building a Teardrop.
134. If you ever burned up a jigsaw, drill, and belt sander...You might be building a Teardrop.
135. If you ever had to buy another new drill and jigsaw while 800 miles away from home to fix A/C problems while on your maiden voyage...You might be building a Teardrop.
136. If you ever get asked, "Is that a trailer for dogs?" ...You might be building a Teardrop.
137. If you measured the width of your tires and axle before building your workshop door...You might be building a Teardrop.
138. You hear the first rain of the season at two in the morning and you already know what the first thing your going to cover with a blue tarp is ...You have a Teardrop.

139. You've met Gage... You have a Teardrop.

140. You have out of town guests that shun your pull out bed for what's parked in the driveway...You have a Teardrop.

141. If grown men are sitting around discussing and trading recipes for cooking and getting tips for sewing flowered pants, instead of telling lies about some sexual exploits ya can damn well bet there are a few Teardrops close by.

142. If an Okie mom is hogging the computer from her 16 year old and laughing out loud while staring at the monitor early in the morning... Ya might be a Tear-dropper.

143. If you spent almost a year designing the perfect teardrop... Stop!!!
You won't follow the plan... You'll change things every step of the way because you are finally building a Teardrop.

144. If ya find a use for that odd ball piece of hardware or gadget on the shelf in your shop ya bought for the teardrop ya might be building your 2nd Teardrop.

145. If ya got more than 18 flamingos in your accessory box ya might need professional help and be building a Teardrop.

146. If it's 12:45 in the morning, your sitting on a stool in front of the wood stove staring at the graphics you temporarily put on the side in masking tape, watching Smokey and the Bandit on the shop TV...You fer sure are a Teardrop builder.

147. If ya can't find something in your kitchen but ya know exactly where it is in the trailer... Ya might already have built a Teardrop.

148. If ya have a series of horizontal knots on the back top of your head... Ya might be building a Teardrop...and need to make your door taller.

149. If you ever get stopped at the Hoover dam check point for 30 min so all the security can take a look... You might have built a Teardrop.

150. If you've ever had someone say "I saw Huell Howser talk about those" ... You have a Teardrop.

Need more? Join us here...

<http://www.mikenchell.com/forums>